

SOCIO-EMOTIONAL DEVELOPMENT AND WELL-BEING – REFLECTIVE COMPETENCIES

This hybrid lecture series brings together international expertise on the well-being of youth and their socio-emotional development and competencies. International guest speakers from the fields of psychology, education, and special needs education will present theoretical frameworks, empirical studies, and hands on insights from the school context on how to contribute to students' well-being and socio-emotional competencies.

This lecture series is funded by the DAAD, the National Agency Erasmus+ School Education, European Union as well as the Greifswald University Club.

Project "SEL4@ll: Promoting well-being among European adolescents – an inclusive and digital programme to strengthen socio-emotional competencies"

Project "THIN: Think innovative and internationally! Teaching and Learning in Change"
